

NOVEMBER 2, 2018

Emily Carr University of Art & Design

Knowledge has the power to spark change, but only if it is shared! This one-day workshop will focus on a wide range of topics related to strengthening the sharing of knowledge and resources in the field of teaching and learning with educational technology.

Featuring special guest Paul Stacey, Executive Director of the Open Education Consortium

For more details and registration visit:
<https://etug.ca/tag/fall-workshop-2018>

Cost is $100 for the day and includes lunch & more!